Raids by Police Have Cut Attendance to Handful and Reduction of Purses Causes Owners to Leave.

TO SHIP MANY HORSES;

String Owned by Millionaire Smathers Will Be Placed Under Hammer—St. Louisian Will Quit Racing Game.

In order that there might be no betting even on the first race, as has been the case on other days, the police arrived at Delmar Racetrack at 2:15 p. m., Thursday, one hour earlier than usual.

The same force as on other days entered the grounds and the same methods were used. Not even a show of resistance was made by the track attaches.

Detectives went through the form of asking for admission and of being refused and then Lieut. Hanna of the Mounted District, who was in charge in the absence of Capt. McNamee, led his men through the gate.

Lieut. McKenna headed the men on foot, 30 in number, and four sergeants. Twelve riflemen, who this time accompanied the policemen to the betting ring, were in charge of Capt. Roemer. Eighteen detectives brought up the rear.

"Bill" Matthews and "Jack" Hansen, gatekeepers, stood aside and did not suggest an objection.

Twelve mounted men remained outside at the gate.

Passing the grandstand, the police forces saw two men and one woman. In the betting ring was only a handful of spectators. It was then 15 minutes until the first race was scheduled, but the scene was very listless.

The trouble at the track is failing to excite interest even as a spectacle for the crowd outside has dwindled to have its ordinary proportions.

"POLICE OR NONE WILL ENTER TRACK," KIELY.

Chief of Police Kiely said this morning that the police would again raid Delmar Racetrack this afternoon, and that the warrants issued Wednesday would be served if the men against whom they were issued could be found.

Chief Kiely also said that he did not know why Gov. Folk had summoned Police Captain McNamee to Jefferson City, unless it was that the Governor wanted to obtain at first hand a detailed report of police operations at Delmar Racetrack.

If any attempt is made to close this race today Chief Kiely has decided to keep the spectators out of the track until the police are admitted.

When Prosecuting Attorney Johnston of St. Louis County was told Thursday morning of Chief of Police Kiely's declaration that if the St. Louis police were not permitted to enter Delmar racetrack no one should enter, he said:

"The St. Louis Chief of Police can prevent persons being admitted to Delmar racetrack if he has the necessary authority. I do not think he possesses such authority. If he does what he now threatens I shall issue informations charging him with disturbing the peace, or assault, or whatever grounds the case warrants."

MANY HORSES SENT AWAY: BOOKMAKERS GO.

It is now five days since the St. Louis police commenced raiding the Delmar racetrack in search of violators of the anti-pooling law.

The regular bookmakers have scattered. Already some of them are heard of for other racing quarters. Few of them appeared at Delmar Wednesday. Those who did kept well under cover.

Out of town horsemen are beginning to ship their horses to other racing points, believing that the game is up at Delmar.

The reduction of purses from $300 to $200, made Wednesday by the Delmar Racetrack management, followed a reduction two weeks ago from $400 to $300 in the case.

The Iron Mountain Railroad now runs out an express car nightly for the shipment of horses from St. Louis.

Wednesday night Henry Batchelor, whose horses have been racing at Delmar, shipped his stable to Texas, about 15 horses in all.

Wednesday night G. R. and A. E. Flock shipped 10 or 12 horses to Texas by rail until now been racing at Delmar.

Dr. Neil Nelson Uses Fist on Two Men Who Are Charged With Following Wife and Who Approach her as She Starts for Auto.

Thinking that one of two men standing at the Chemical Building entrance was accosting his bride of two weeks, Dr. Neil P. Nelson, dentist, in the Chemical Building, struck him in the face and then gave his companion a beating on Olive street Wednesday evening.

Then he handed his wife into their waiting automobile and they rode away while the two men, with battered countenances, walked east on Olive street.

Mrs. Nelson visited her husband at his office at 4 p. m. and told him of a man who had followed her into the elevator and, getting off on the same floor as she did, had noted the number of the office which she entered.

On her description of the man the husband looked through the corridors and in the lobby downstairs, but did not see him.

As they were leaving the building, about 5:30, Mrs. Nelson walked behind her husband and a friend, with whom they were to take an automobile ride. As she crossed the sidewalk a man stepped up to her and spoke.

The husband heard him, and, whirling around, saw the man described by his wife. He struck the stranger fair in the face with his right fist. The latter dodged behind another man, apparently his friend.

This man showed fight and the dentist's fist landed in his face also. He returned a blow or two, striking Dr. Nelson in the face, and then turned and walked rapidly away, accompanied by the other one.

Dr. Nelson says he knows the one who attempted to speak to his wife and that he has an office in the Century Building.

Mrs. Nelson, who is an attractive woman, lived in Kansas City until two weeks ago.

BURGLAR TOOK BATH, SHAVE AND CLOTHES

Home of J. J. Mulholland Scene of Intruder's Toilet—Family Absent.

LEFT HIS OLD GARMENTS

Mr. Mulholland's Best Suit Gone—Razor, Brushes and Bath Used.

The burglar that ransacked the residence of John J. Mulholland, 482 Forest Park boulevard, had the appearance of a perfect gentleman—when he left.

He was smooth-shaven—with Mr. Mulholland's razor; his hair was neatly combed and brushed with Mr. Mulholland's comb and brush, and he was dressed in a fine suit—Mr. Mulholland's.

He was a considerable sort of burglar, too. That Mr. Mulholland might not suffer from exposure, he left some of his old clothes, including shoes, socks, collar and necktie.

The man came through a transom into the kitchen some time between 9:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. The gentleman burglar made his toilet, shaved and brushed, and then he changed into a full-length mirror, which he deduced from the fact that his old shoes, collar, tie and other apparel were found there. The collar bore the initials "A. E. E."

Thus attired he departed by the front door.

He selected a suit of underwear, a pair of socks, a shirt, a necktie, a collar, a pair of shoes, a suit of black clothes and a straw hat.

A very good toilet, behind leads to the belief that he enjoyed a bath before making the change and the condition of the bathroom showed that he scraped his face clean. A comb and brush bear evidence of vigorous usage.

Smathers to Sell String.

Edward S. Smathers, who owns the best stable at Delmar, and whose colt, "Uncle Charley," won the Derby at the Fair Grounds this season, has telegraphed his trainer, John Lowe, to sell all his horses on the paddock at Delmar Racetrack Saturday.

Phil Chinn, M. B. Miller and Schreiber, who some time ago shipped their stables from Delmar to Memphis, are now shipping from Memphis to New York, not caring to return to the Delmar track.

T. H. Stephens, who has always heretofore sent his horses to Delmar, has ordered them to be turned out to pasture on his Kentucky farm.

Moses Goldblatt has left his stable at Memphis to go to St. Louis. Goldblatt is a St. Louisian who has a stable at Delmar, and he is thinking of going out of the business.

Charles Schaeffer, another St. Louis horseman whose stable was established at Delmar, has ordered his horses turned out to pasture in Illinois.

POLICE WOULD STOP

R. H. Bohle, manager of the Western Union in St. Louis; President Stewart of the Police Board; Chief of Police and Detective Killian met in Chief Kiely's office Thursday.

After the conference Mr. Stewart was asked if the matter under discussion was that of bringing about a discontinuance of the Western Union's telegraphic service to the Delmar racetrack.

He said: "Well, we're investigating. The Western Union doesn't look any bigger to us than any other concern."

When the coroner's inquest began in the death of Euelah Card, who was killed Tuesday evening at her home, 324 North Broadway, by Frank Card, who afterward tried to kill himself, Mrs. Card appeared in the coroner's office with an attorney to defend her husband.

The attorney, Albert Miller, took charge of Card's interests in the hearing.

As his wife entered the room Card arose from his chair, where he was sitting with his head covered by his hands, and bowed to her.

He declined to make any statement of his motives in shooting Mrs. Card, on the advice of his attorney.

POLICE RELEASE SOLICITOR

City Employees Who Commissioned Him to Get Subscriptions Reprimanded.

Robert Coburn, who was arrested at the instance of St. Louis business firms among them the Kennard Carpet Co., on complaint that he had solicited subscriptions in behalf of City Hall employees, for the establishment of a "municipal library" and the organization of a "City Hall baseball team," was released from custody Wednesday on the order of Chief of Detectives Desmond.

Chief Desmond said that he told the prisoner not to solicit further subscriptions.

At the same time the chief administered a reprimand to Dan Walsh, an employee of the City Collector's office, and Joseph Richards, a clerk in the office of the President of the City Board of Education, who admitted they had commissioned Coburn to secure subscriptions. They said they had no authority to do so.

Walsh and Richards said that it had been customary for City Hall employees to get up a baseball team every year and to provide a score card containing the advertisements of St. Louis firms.

The advertisements of these firms, they declared, were used to defray the expense entailed in purchasing baseball bats, balls and other needed articles.

They denied that they got the money to help equip a library. They denied all knowledge of the library project.

MAN AND WIFE

George A. Kelly Clung to Window and Supported Mrs. Kelly While Flames and Smoke Encircled Them.

ESCAPE BY STAIRWAY STOPPED BY THE FIRE

Exploding Gasoline in Kitchen Started the Blaze, Which Spread With Great Rapidity—Rescued by Firemen.

Encompassed by flames on every side and with the single passage of escape shut off, George A. Kelly, an electrician of 323 Olive street, with his right hand tightly grasping a frail window shutter, his left arm encircling the waist of his wife, suspended himself and his almost unconscious burden over the edge of the window sill of the second story of their home. With almost superhuman strength he maintained an equilibrium for more than five minutes, until Assistant Chief Gallagher of the Salvage Corps arrived with ladders and rescued the almost exhausted man from his perilous position.

Just as the ladder was hoisted flames and smoke broke out of the window, blinding Assistant Chief Gallagher and scorching Mrs. Kelly's hands. Mr. Kelly's arms and hands were also burned. Kelly's fingers had already begun to relax their grasp on the frail shutter and had his rescuers arrived a minute later he would have been compelled to drop with his wife to the sidewalk from sheer exhaustion.

At 4:30 Thursday morning Mrs. Kelly was awakened by the muffled report of an explosion. She and her husband occupy four rooms in the second story of an apartment house. When Kelly arose there was a distinct odor of smoke and he opened the door which leads into the kitchen from the front bedroom, which they occupied.

He met a rush of flames and a stifling smoke, which almost suffocated him. He realized instantly that the stairs leading to the street below was the single passage of escape, and, grabbing his wife in his arms he ran into the next room and burst open the door into the hallway.

Met by Smoke and Flame. Another burst of flame and suffocating smoke met him and he ran back into the bedroom. In his excitement he had left the kitchen door open and the room was rapidly filling with smoke and flames were leaping over the doorsill.

Shut off from escape by the stairway, the window facing Olive street offered the only means of escape.

Mr. Kelly flung open the window and called loudly for help. Policemen Curran and Dorris were standing on the corner a block and a half away. Hearing the cries for help and observing the smoke issuing from the rear windows, they ran up to the house, where the frightened couple sat suspended over the window sill.

No ladders or poles of any kind in sight, the policemen were unable to assist them. A minute later Assistant Chief Gallagher of the Salvage Corps at 321 Locust street arrived. A ladder was immediately hoisted as the flames leaped from the top of the window out of which the couple hung suspended.

Carried Wife Down Ladder. With his wife almost unconscious in his arms, Mr. Kelly, with the assistance of Assistant Chief Gallagher and Policemen Curran and Dorris, descended to the ground.

Not until Kelly and his wife were rescued from their perilous position on the window sill was the fire alarm turned in, and when the engines arrived the flames were shooting out of the rear of the building and smoke was pouring in volumes from the front bedroom window from which the couple had just been rescued.

The flames were extinguished after an hour's hard fight. A can of gasoline had exploded in the kitchen, which accounts for the hot fire which spread to the other rooms so quickly.

Mrs. Kelly was dazed by fright and both of her hands were slightly burned. Neither she nor her husband had time to put on their clothing, and when they were suspended out of the bedroom window both were attired in their night clothes.

Mr. Kelly is the St. Louis delegate for the local electrical union. He was burned slightly on the face and his hands were badly scorched. The furniture was a total loss and the damage to the house will amount to $1000.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Some doubt is expressed in official circles whether it will be possible to obtain China's consent to another treaty with the United States, providing for even the exclusion of Chinese laborers from this country.

Charles Oliver McKeon Met Death in Awful Explosion on Gunboat.

It was discovered Thursday that Charles Oliver McKeon of East St. Louis was one of the victims of the Bennington disaster at San Diego, Cal.

McKeon, who was 24 years old, and whose parents live at 730 North Ninth street, East St. Louis, enlisted Dec. 4, 1902, as an engine room apprentice under the name of Charles Oliver.

After the explosion, when it was found that he was one of the victims, a member of the crew told a lieutenant that the man known as Oliver had told him that his real name was McKeon and that his home was in East St. Louis.

This was reported to the Secretary of the Navy, who asked Congressman Rodenberg to make inquiries. He did so and located the parents of the young man. Mr. Rodenberg will have the effects of McKeon sent to his parents.

MOTHER-IN-LAW IS BLAMED FOR WOES

Judge Bishop Denying Divorce, Says She "Delighted in Widening Breach."

"It seems to me that this is a case of too much mother-in-law," said Judge Bishop.

So, Thursday morning, sitting for Judge Reynolds of the Circuit Court, he dismissed the petitions of both husband and wife for a divorce in the case of Rosie Theresa Broderick against Daniel J. Broderick.

He held that Mrs. Broderick had not sustained her allegations of cruelty, abuse and nonsupport and that Broderick had not sustained his charges made in a cross-complaint.

Mrs. Broderick is the daughter of Mrs. Rene De Young of 121 North Channing avenue. She asked for the restoration of her maiden name and the custody of her child. Judge Bishop heard the evidence Saturday.

He summed it up Thursday as follows: "After carefully reviewing this case it seems to me to be a case of too much mother-in-law. When trouble arose in the family, it appears, she made no effort to reconcile the couple, but delighted in widening the breach of misunderstanding."

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The report of the receiver of the First National Bank of Topeka, Kan., which closed its doors on July 1, 1906, has been received by the Comptroller of the Currency. It classifies the assets of the bank as follows:

Good, $784,684; doubtful, $1,222,435; worthless, $139,154.

And the liabilities are as follows: Individual deposits, $1,122,727; certificates of deposit, $28,960; due to national banks, $22,230; due to other banks and bankers, $12,184; unpaid drafts outstanding, $20,889; other liabilities, $606. Total, $1,600,667.

The receiver states he found much difficulty in estimating the value of the Devlin collaterals and that his estimate of them may not even approximately indicate what may be finally realized therefrom.

Notes on Which She Borrowed Money From Statistician, With Assistant's Indorsement, Are Found.

HYDE AND HOLMES ARE

Former in Europe, Latter in Chicago—District Attorney Accuses Officials of Miamanaging Investigation.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—They are mixing up a woman with the cotton report scandal.

She is said to have borrowed large sums of money from Chief Statistician Hyde on notes indorsed by the dismissed Holmes.

This woman's name cannot be mentioned at present, but she is a clerk in the Agricultural department.

The notes are for sums larger than those appeared in the checks that came into evidence during the postoffice frauds trials. In fact the money transactions that appear in the Machen case appear as comparatively small change in the transactions mentioned in connection with the cotton scandal.

There is nothing about the notes indicating that they represent anything other than legitimate business transactions, but they have not been explained to the grand jury or the officers of the departments of agriculture or to the two secret service operatives who discovered them.

They are merely among the things laid aside for explanation when Hyde and Holmes return, which, it is assumed, will be before the present grand jury finishes its work and makes a report.

Hyde and Holmes are the two men above all others who would have been able to give the grand jury the plain after the case was turned over to the Department of Justice, represented in this case by him.

The mystery with which the grand jury investigation of the cotton leak scandal is hedged about has been heightened by the appearance of another woman in the case.

This woman visited the office of the District Attorney, heavily veiled, and a successful effort was made to prevent her identity from being learned. After a brief conference with the District Attorney she left the building. Presumably the woman is a witness who will subsequently be called.

Mr. Witte and Party Sailed From Cherbourg Today on Kaiser Wilhelm, After Long Detention by Fog.

JAPAN IS AFFRONTED BY A WALDORF MAID.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Although the Japanese Minister does not look it, he enjoys a joke and does not act ugly when the joke is on him. Otherwise there would be an international complication at the Waldorf calling for the inequity of prime ministers to avert various consequences. It all resulted from an Irish chambermaid's sedition to obey orders, which in substance were that the Envoy, Baron Komura should not be disturbed by callers.

Komura had dispatched the Minister to Oyster Bay to arrange a meeting with President Roosevelt. Now there is more, said between New York and Oyster Bay than can well be imagined, even with knowledge and imagination fully developed.

The stoop-shouldered, spectacled Minister Takahira, grimed and weary from travel, entered the lobby of the hotel and proceeded to the private elevator to the envoy's apartment. Dust will transform a molehill into a mountain. It transformed a Minister into a mass-warder.

"I beg pardon," said the hotel girl on the fourth floor. "But you really cannot go in there. Baron Komura is busy and will not receive anybody. He would not receive you in any case without a card."

"But I am Mr. Takahira, the Japanese Minister," the visitor replied. "I have an engagement with the Baron." The young woman wotted out of the ministers or peace negotiations.

"I am obeying his express orders," she replied. "Have you a card?" Minister Takahira fumbled in his Oriental sash for a moment and produced enough cards to make a deck. He was received without further ado.

While Baron Komura was conferring with Minister Takahira, Mr. Sato, the official "fender" of the Japanese envoy, sat in his nearby apartments talking to the newspaper men about Japan, its people and its Emperor.

"It is not religion that leads the Japanese to face death fearlessly," he said. "It is our long traditions of bravery as well as a personal sense of honor. You see our religion is founded in respect for our ancestors, and we feel that we must do them honor."

DR. WHITE PREDICTS REVOLUTION OF RUSSIA.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 27.—Dr. Andrew White, former ambassador to Russia and Germany and also former President of the Cornell University, delivered a lecture last night on "Evolution in Revolution in Politics."

"The dams against modern thought which have been held up heretofore by the hated aristocracy will be suddenly broken down sometime in the near future by the revolutionary reactionaries and anarchy will break loose, which will be devastating in its effects, but which will end in better things."

HATTIE BEALL.

DANCER GOES TO WED—BUT WHOM?

Left Note: "I'm With Rough Rider," but Went With Drummer.

NIGHT CHASE IN DARK

Parents Hope Companion Was Only Taking Her to the Other Man.

Miss Hattie Beall, pretty St. Louis girl, ballet dancer and concert singer with the John Robinson circus, has joined her rough rider sweetheart, Thomas Hogan, former St. Louis boy, at Brighton Beach, N. Y., her parents hope after an exciting but unsuccessful chase by the father to overtake the girl. The chase took place in the country near Sidney, O., and only took place, the parents say, because they thought their daughter was eloping with another man. They admire Hogan, they say, and him that his daughter and Victor Cooper, a snare drummer with the show, had left together, he supposed that they had eloped.

When Mr. Beall was awakened from his sleep Monday morning in a berth at Sidney, O., by another performer who learned next day that his daughter, Miss Beall, had left with Hogan, he found his daughter's father and son, who he had eloped.

He got into his clothes, found a policeman and the two traced the couple to a lively stable. They hired a rig and started in pursuit, 20 minutes behind the girl and Cooper.

After a chase of 20 miles through the dark they gave up the effort. They learned next day that their daughter had been on the track, but that she had been turned off into a side road and escaped.

"Gone to Be Rough Rider."

When the father returned to Sidney his wife showed him a note which she had found on a fan and left in her berth by her daughter. It read: "Dear Mother—My father and I have gone to Brighton Beach to be a rough rider with Hogan, the man I love."

The parents believe that Cooper merely acted as an accomplice to the girl's scheme of running away. They say that she need not have taken such a course, as they had no objection to her marrying Hogan.

They have telegraphed to Brighton Beach in the hope of locating the girl and will not rejoin the circus until they have definite word from her.

Many St. Louisians know the pretty 17-year-old girl.

RUSSIA PROTESTS CHAFFEE'S REPORT

Complains General Reflects on Czar's Military in Statement on Boxer Campaign.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The Russian Government through Col. Raspopov, the military attaché of the embassy, made a protest with the State Department against the publication of certain alleged reflections upon the military service of the Emperor made in an official report by Gen. Chaffee.

Gen. Chaffee, who was the head of the American forces in the operations of the allied powers in the campaign against China and in the relief of Peking, was called upon by the department to submit a detailed report of those operations and of the military service of the Emperor.

The report of Gen. Chaffee was some-what elaborate and showed keenness in his observations. These reports were never made public, but recently a servant of the department has been seen at the State Department.

WROTE LETTERS TO MISS ROOSEVELT

Soldier Removed From Castle
William and Examined by Board on Lunacy.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The mysterious quest of a secret service detective sent by President Roosevelt to Governor's Island, was explained when Private James G. Jones, who has been serving a term of imprisonment in Castle William for desertion, was removed on a special order and examined by a board of lunacy.

Although great secrecy was maintained, it was learned that Jones had been sending letters to Miss Alice Roosevelt from prison. He sent more than a score. In each of them he implored her to marry him.

The climax came when Jones sent a sharp note to Mrs. Roosevelt in which he said that she was standing between her step-daughter and himself.

This letter was received at Oyster Bay last week and President Roosevelt immediately dispatched one of his guard of secret service men to investigate.

The soldier was removed from the prison by a special order and taken to the military hospital. He was under observation for several days but the doctors could not tell whether he was sane or not.

A lunacy board for one was appointed a few days after. Its members are perplexed. Some of them think Jones is feigning insanity, probably to escape prison, and others say he shows no other symptom of an unbalanced mind than the conduct in writing letters.

Jones is smooth-faced and handsome. His record in the army is none too good. He was imprisoned for deserting once before.

48,000 UNSMOKED STOGIES HELD HERE

Internal Revenue Collector
Here Is Now Well Supplied With Nicotine Weeds.

Internal Revenue Collector Westhus is continuing the investigation of an alleged attempt to defraud the Government, which resulted in the seizure of 48,000 cigars that had just arrived in St. Louis from New York.

The cigars, of the kind known as stogies, were shipped, it is charged by three New York manufacturers, by another manufacturer in that city, who has been active in working up the case. They are packed in pasteboard boxes imitating cigar box wood, and the revenue stamps on the boxes are said to have previously been canceled, the cancellation marks having been obliterated of the stamps so placed together with others as to eliminate the marks.

The stamps are of the "100" denomination, such as cigar manufacturers buy from the Government in lots of 100 at $1 per lot. The confiscated stogies, therefore, represented to the Government the sum of $4,800, if the regular tax had been paid. The cigars have been removed to the offices of the Internal Revenue Department in the Federal Building, and will be held there pending instructions from the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington.

Local internal revenue officials agreed to the New York dealers' proposition to order three lots of cigars under fictitious names. The cigars arrived in St. Louis in the depot of the Columbia Transfer Co., the second Monday, in the warehouse of the St. Louis Transfer Co., and the third Wednesday in the freight depot of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co.

PREFERRED DEATH TO SERVITUDE

Girl Who Takes Life in O'Fallon Park Writes: "I Did No Wrong."

"Dear Parents, Brothers and Sisters: I have lost my position and am tired of living. I hope you will forgive me, for I did no wrong. Tell my friends among the boys and girls that I did not do wrong, and ask them to forgive me." So reads the note found in the handbag carried by Magdalena Thieser, 13 years old, of 1426 Menard street, who ended her life Wednesday by taking carbolic acid. She was found ill in O'Fallon Park by Watchman Daniel Boyle and Policeman Mennebach, and an ambulance made a seven-mile run at headlong speed in an attempt to get her to the City Hospital in time for her life to be saved, but the girl died just as the hospital was reached.

She lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Thieser, and the family had come from Vinca, Hungary, only three months ago. It is said that she was greatly downcast by having to enter service as a housegirl, and this is believed to have led to her act. She had left home in the morning to apply for a position at 1223 Maple avenue and was found in O'Fallon Park about 3 p. m.

Her body was identified at the Morgue by her father, and has been turned over to Frank Hefelge, a Chouteau avenue undertaker.

Census Badly Botched.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 27.—Thomas Browne, superintendent of the State census taken in this city, admitted today that the work was so miserably botched by many enumerators that he had to take practically a new census in many sections of the city, and that the announcement of the final result has been indefinitely delayed on this account.

So badly is the work done that the reports of three out of every five enumerators have to be carefully gone over, verified and the territory covered by the enumerator investigated again.

POLICE LOSE FRIEND WHEN MISS SHAW LEAVES

Miss Elizabeth Shaw, who for five years was assistant housekeeper at the Planters' Hotel in St. Louis, has gone to Indianapolis, Ind., where she has taken the position as housekeeper in the Spencer Hotel. The St. Louis Police Department feels that it has lost a valuable friend in the departure of Miss Shaw. It was a part of her duty to employ the female help, and with the 300 girls employed at the hotel, when the police found some worthy girl, who was homeless and friendless, it was usually only necessary to communicate with Miss Shaw and the homeless girl found a good place.

Miss Shaw lived at 1718 North Vandeventer avenue. Her father was a kinsman of the late Henry Shaw, founder of Shaw's Garden and Tower Grove Park.

PEPPER SAUCE IN EYES OF SAILOR

Patient in City Hospital Has Unusual Malady After Fight.

"I'm a sailor and I stop at levee saloons and boarding houses, but I'm too proud to register as coming from such places," said Thomas Kelly, aged 45, at City Hospital Thursday.

He had just been treated for pepper-sauce-in-the-eyes, and also for a battered skull, and is now suffering from alcoholism. Some time Wednesday night he got into a difficulty in a dramshop on the river front and says that some one must have struck him with a bottle of pepper sauce.

He doesn't know what the fight was about, nor with whom he was fighting, and says that at first he thought carbolic acid had been thrown in his eyes, but that the smell of pepper sauce and a dazed recollection that a bottle of that condiment had stood on the saloon counter a moment before enlightened him as to the character of the projectile that was fired at him.

His condition is not serious.

Farmer Smith Seeks Wife and Money in St. Louis.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 27.—It is probable that aged Charles Smith, the farmer whose newly-wed young wife disappeared with $300 in money and a note for $1000, will follow her to St. Louis. The information he obtained here makes him think she is either in St. Louis or Kansas City.

The woman said she was a widow and that her name was Lorena Porter. She said she was a chambermaid in the St. Charles Hotel here.

Smith lives at Mayville. After the marriage Mrs. Smith asked that a note for $400 be taken out of bank and be placed in her hands for safekeeping and as a marriage dower. Then she called on a friend and disappeared.

CROWD SEES DEPUTY SHERIFF BEATEN

Alleged Disturber Knocks Out One Officer, Hits Police Chief Before Arrested.

Andrew McDonald of Alton has a sad-looking face as the result of an attempt to keep Chief of Police Maxwell and Deputy Sheriff Russell from arresting him.

McDonald is said to have been disturbing the peace of Plaza street Wednesday afternoon. When the Chief of Police and the Deputy Sheriff undertook to arrest him he fought them viciously. He gave Russell a black eye and almost knocked him out, and also struck Maxwell.

The latter finally got his billy into action and pounded McDonald with it until he was ready to give up and be arrested.

After he was subdued he was locked up.

There were many persons on Plaza street when the trouble occurred. A large crowd gathered around the fighters and there was considerable excitement.

SON CAUSES HIS MOTHER'S ARREST

Secretary to Chicago Millionaire Calls Police When Old Lady Asks for Money.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 27.—James E. Foye, private secretary of Charles G. Gans, son of the Chicago millionaire, caused the arrest of his mother, Mrs. Florence Foye, in front of the Waldorf-Astoria, when she stopped him as he was hurrying from lunch and begged him to give her money for food.

Her son, Mrs. Foye says, was summoned before the Department of Charities officials last winter and told he must pay her $5 a week. He paid $12 then, but since, she says, has not paid her any money.

A policeman took her to the West Thirtieth Street Station and Rte. to the West Side Court, where Magistrate Wahle was sitting. Young Foye, when the case was called, stepped forward.

"This woman—" he began.

"Stop!" ordered the Magistrate. "That is the way to address a woman of the street. It is not the way to address one's mother."

Foye said his mother had twice threatened to shoot him unless he gave her money. Then he ordered the complaint against Mrs. Foye dismissed.

"If I am shot, who is responsible?" asked the young man.

"Get out of here at once. Leave this room," ordered the Magistrate. Foye hurried from the courtroom and his mother followed.

"I cannot understand my son," said the old woman. "When my husband died, two years ago, he left $6000 insurance. I had divorced him a short time before that, but we were reconciled, and I was with him when he died. My son would not give me a penny of the insurance."

TAKES LIFE AFTER VISIT TO GRAVE

Kraft, With Wife, Places Flowers Over Dead Son, Then Drinks Poison.

One hour after he had helped his wife decorate the grave of his son, William G. Kraft, aged 32, drank a solution of cyanide of potassium and was dead before medical aid could reach him.

Kraft had been ill in health for some time, but seemed better than usual when he returned from St. Peter's Cemetery to his home, 132 Pendleton avenue. He went into his bedroom on the lower floor and when his wife entered the room within a few minutes Kraft said good-bye, telling her he had taken poison.

Drs. William Krenning and R. C. Miller of Easton avenue were called to find Kraft dead. Statements of Mrs. Kraft and her daughter, Miss Minnie, indicate that ill health was the cause of his death. The son whose grave he had visited, died six years ago. Arrangements for the funeral are not yet complete.

NOT ONE DIAMOND IN BELLEVILLE?

East St. Louis Scintillates While Millstadt Township Has Only $5 Worth.

TOWNSHIP HAS NO CLOCKS

Report Compiled From the Books of Assessors Shows Some Remarkable Facts.

The final report of the Board of Review of St. Clair County, made to the State Board of Equalization from Belleville Thursday, shows some curious figures compiled from the books of the local County Assessors.

According to this report, there isn't one diamond owned in all Belleville while East St. Louis scintillates with diamonds assessed at a total valuation of $641.

Millstadt Township has one diamond valued at $5.

"There's not a watch or a clock in Smithtown Township, according to the books of the local assessors."

Caseville has one clock and so has Millstadt Township.

Belleville, the second largest city in St. Clair County, does not possess one piece of gold or silverware, the review board discovers. There are but five townships in the county that have any diamonds.

Then there are some strange facts and figures reported along other lines. For instance, East St. Louis, the largest city in St. Clair County, is reported as having but $4.00 in money, while Belleville, about half its size, is assessed for $69,130 in money. Of the scant cash owned in East St. Louis two men possess $50.00, leaving the rest of the town about 50 cents as representing the wealth of the rest of the population.

Also, according to the report, East St. Louis does not own a stock or bond of any corporation in all the wide world, while Belleville owns bonds to the extent of $196,252.

The report now just made is attracting much attention.

RELIEVED OFFICE ALSO

Man Sent to Relieve Station Agent at Paducah Junction Robs Railroad.

UNION CITY, Tenn., July 27.—The Illinois Central Railroad sent a man to Paducah Junction from Chicago to relieve the night man, who had been granted a leave of absence that he might take a rest.

The man from the Windy City took charge last night, threw the block signals all right after the 1:30 train on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis line, boarded the same train, skipped out, having robbed the office safe of $30 and two pistols. The fugitive's old clothes were found this morning at Fulton, Ky.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes. "First in everything."

RESIGNS HOT SPRINGS JOB

Superintendent of Government Reservation Awaits Pleasure of Secretary Interior.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 27.—The resignation of Martin A. Elsie as superintendent of the Government reservation here, has been in the hands of the Secretary of the Interior for six weeks.

"My resignation was made in a tentative way," said Mr. Elsie. "While I was in Washington I had a talk with Secretary Hitchcock about matters pertaining to the reservation and local conditions in Hot Springs. The Secretary intimated that the Government was contemplating a change in Government affairs generally in Hot Springs. He informed me that the contemplated change in the reservation was in the embryo and he would expect me to remain at my post until further notice."

English Rifle Blunder Will Cost Millions

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 27.—The special army order issued this week suppressing the further manufacture of the new rifle has disclosed a most serious blunder on the part of the War Office, and one which will cost the nation many millions of dollars.

It was only after the representations of many experienced riflemen that the authorities decided to abandon the weapon for general use.

Every one of the experts, apart from those belonging to the Army Council, who originally recommended the adoption, found that the short rifle was inferior in almost every respect to the Lee-Enfield, the Mannlicher and the Mauser, and it was then that the War Office decided to stop all further manufacture immediately.

When the weapons were adopted, however, enormous plants of machinery were installed in the factories where the contracts were placed. Thousands were taken out and put into the hands of the Indian troops, and thousands more were finished and ready for distribution when the countermarching order was issued.

The manufacture and distribution of the weapon was accordingly proceeded with, but in the subsequent use and practice at the range the following defects were discovered and reported to headquarters:

1. Jamming of the magazine.

2. Too much play in the mechanism.

3. Foresight disappears during rapid firing in a haze caused by a rapid fire.

4. Foresight too thick, and obliterates the target.

5. Bad balance.

6. Metal too soft, resulting in the barrel being permeated with corrosive gas.

All these defects, which the authorities have at last recognized, were discovered by the British in the early days of the new rifle, but were then disregarded.

BIGAMY PENALTY WILL BE DEFINED

Will Decide if Bigamists From Other States Can Be Punished Here.

The Missouri Supreme Court will be asked by Circuit Attorney Sager and Assistant Circuit Attorney Olligsale to decide whether James W. Stuart can be punished in Missouri for bigamy alleged to have been committed in another State.

The ruling of the Supreme Court will also settle the question of the constitutionality of section 2183 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1892, which declares that a man may be punished under such conditions. Judge Bishop of the St. Louis Circuit Court ruled Wednesday that this section was unconstitutional, thereby sustaining the contention of attorney James Rollins, representing Stuart. An appeal is to be taken from this ruling.

It is charged that Stuart had a wife living in the South when he married another woman in Alexander County, Illinois. Attorney Rollins' motion asked the court to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial on the grounds stated, and the court granted the motion.

LOST OLD MAN SAFE AT HOME

James Cullen, Who Wanders Away, Is Found Through Post-Dispatch Medium.

By means of a publication in the Post-Dispatch James Cullen, aged 74, who wandered away from home and became dazed and lost, has been restored to his son, Eugene Cullen, of 113 Lucas avenue, and is once more safe with his family.

The old man had made his aimless way as far south as Jefferson Barracks, where he was taken in charge, under the impression that his mind was unsettled, and from there was sent to Clayton. He did not seem able to remember where he lived and could give no account of himself beyond the fact that his name was James Cullen.

The story of the old fellow's plight was published in Saturday's Post-Dispatch, and among the thousands who read it was a friend of the Cullen family who promptly telephoned to Eugene Cullen, giving him the facts in the case. The son at once hurried out to Clayton and obtained his father's release, returning with him to St. Louis. The old man is, fortunately, none the worse for his adventure.

THREE FALL IN FEUDIST BATTLE

The Mullins-Fleming Factions Meet and Sol Mullins and Jeff Flemings Are Killed.

MAYKING, Ky., July 26.—In a desperate feud battle between the Mullins-Fleming factions at Long Fork Creek on the Letcher-Pike border, two were killed and perhaps a third mortally wounded.

Sol Mullins and Sol Flemings, the leaders, met and opened fire. At the third volley Mullins fell and expired a few hours later. When the firing ceased Jeff Flemings lay dead on the ground and Robert Mullins had received a dangerous wound in the left thigh. He may die.

Sheriff Tackles arrested three of the Mullins, Henry, Thomas and George. They were taken to Pikeville Jail. After Sol Flemings made a fierce resistance he fled to the mountains. Sol Flemings was one of the leaders in the celebrated Kukus war of Boone's Fork three years ago. It is said, and has killed a number of men. For the part he played in the Kukus war he was given a life sentence in the Kentucky pen, but was pardoned last year by Gov. Beckham.

TAKES VACATION TO GET MARRIED

Absence of Miss Clymer, Stenographer for Dr. Simon, Is Happily Explained.

When Miss Mary Clymer of 642 Page boulevard, for ten years private secretary to Health Commissioner Starkoff and Simon and official stenographer to the Board of Health, obtained a leave of absence and was not present when Dr. Snodgrass succeeded Dr. Simon as Health Commissioner, many who are interested in the present legal tangle involving the Health Commissioner's office, wondered at her absence.

Nearly everybody thought that she, too, had been discharged, because it was known that she had testified in the trial of Dr. Simon at his recent trial before Mayor Wells.

But such is not the case. Miss Clymer is to be married, and her leave of absence was obtained in order that she might prepare for that event. The groom will be Fred C. Mook, a member of a family for many years identified with big painting contracts in St. Louis. He resides at 180 Nebraska avenue. The wedding will take place Aug. 23.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes. "First in everything."

ATHLETE WEDS GIRL HE MET AT GAMES

Dr. R. L. Reber's Romance Begun at Collinsville High School Meet.

BRIDE FOND OF SPORTS

Took Photographs of License Clerk and Minister—Wanted Marriage Kept Secret.

Dr. Robert L. Reber and his bride changed their plans Thursday, following the failure of their efforts to keep their marriage at Alton Wednesday a secret.

They did not want it to be known until September that they had been married. It was the intention of the bride to continue to be known that long as Miss Margaret Loomis and to continue in her employment with one of the telephone companies.

The couple went to Alton on an excursion boat. They were accompanied by Dr. Clarence E. Frank, an associate of Dr. Reber at the City Hospital, and Miss Edna Gilbert of 579 Page boulevard.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. Isler. The couple had a camera with them and amused themselves by taking photographs of the license clerk and the minister and of scenes connected with their marriage as souvenirs of the event.

Dr. Reber is well known as an athlete. He was right tackle last year on the all-Missouri football eleven. His bride is a daughter of Cassius M. Loomis, a Chicago advertising man.

After coming to St. Louis she made her home with her grandmother on Adams avenue. She is interested in field sports. Dr. Reber first met her at a high school athletic meet at Collinsville, Ill.

NEW ARMOR STANDS TEST
Midvale Plate in Competition With Trust Accepted by Government for Warships.

By Wire from the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—A heavy blow has been given the armor plate trust by the Midvale company's output successfully standing the Government test at the Indian Head proving grounds.

This means that a successful and dangerous rival now in the field and that the trust which has been holding up the Government, demanding exorbitant prices for its product will have to cease its extortion or buy in the plant of its successful rival.

On Dec. 15, 1904, the Secretary of the Navy awarded a contract to the Midvale Company for 400 tons of armor for the battleships Mississippi and Idaho. It is 6-inch, face-hardened plate, and, according to an official statement given out at the Bureau of Ordnance, the armor passed an excellent test yesterday under specifications required by the Government. The price required by the Midvale company is $86 per ton and the Government does not have to pay the royalty on this plate, while the Carnegie and Bethlehem demand $20 per ton for their plate and the Government is called on to pay a royalty of $2.50 per ton.

This means that there will be a saving of $20 per ton to the Government.

SCOTT'S FAMILY WILL PAY
Raise $32,000 to Square Accounts for Man Arrested in St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 27.—David Stuart Scott of this place, arrested in St. Louis about a week ago on a charge of forgery and who has been in jail here for some days unable to raise $10,000, will be released today by his relatives, who have agreed to raise $32,000 to square all accounts charged against him.

The arrest of Scott ended one of the most sensational cases ever known to the Pittsburgh police. He had been accused by his wife of forgery in signing her name to a big mortgage and pocketing the proceeds. He was first located by the police in New York City, but from there he fled to a merry chase of 10,000 miles to Colorado, through the Kansas oil fields and finally landing in St. Louis.

WRITING CAUSES PALSY
Farmer, Elected Justice of Peace, Takes to Pen With Dire Effects.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TRICA, N. Y., July 27.—Because he was elected Justice of the Peace and discharged his duties as such, John O'Brien is a physical wreck. Unaccustomed to writing, he buckled down to hard work, and in trying the first suit before him he wrote steadily with a pen for five hours. He is a farmer and had used a pen very seldom. Two days later the hand started to tremble and in a week its movements could not be controlled. Next the shaking extended to his right arm and medical advice was sought.

Little aid was given and the palsy increased over his entire system until he shook as it was impossible for him to stand or attend to his work. He was then forced to take to his bed and it is believed death will come shortly.

CARVES DAUGHTER'S LOVER.
Girl Separates Combatants and Takes Fiance to Surgeon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 27.—Miss Mary Fleming of this city, who has been engaged to a young man named Adams, last night to take a buggy ride. Adams called on her and she and her father and a quarrel followed. Fleming is said to have stabbed Adams eight times. Adams is alleged to have knocked Fleming down, but the latter again attacked Adams and almost cut his clothing from his body before the daughter intervened and separated her father and sweetheart.

Miss Fleming assisted Adams into his buggy and hurriedly drove him to a surgeon, who sewed up his wounds. Miss Fleming will be a witness against her father.

LA FOLLETTE RAPS JOHN ROCKEFELLER

Governor Says Would Like to Hang Stuyvesant Fish—Fears Government in Peril.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GALESBURG, Ill., July 27.—"I believe that the truly representative character of our Government is in greater peril than at any time before in the history of this country," said Gov. La Follette of Wisconsin, in speaking at the Chautauqua on the subject "Railroads and Machine Politics."

"You have pretty fair law in Illinois on freight rates. It is not being enforced, however, and you should bring your Railroad Commissioners to time."

Speaking of Rockefeller, Gov. La Follette said: "Rockefeller gives lots of money, but he is in all kinds of business, straggling and throttling one after another, and if he could live a million years he could not expiate for the crimes committed by robbing his competitors."

Speaking of the accommodations he had on the train in Iowa, he said: "I should like to have the job of hanging Stuyvesant Fish, President of the Illinois Central, for obliging people to ride in such a manner."

ASK KING GEORGE TO LEAVE THRONE

English Residents of Friendly Islands Would Force Out Their Ruler.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The schooner William Olsen, arrived here from the Friendly Islands, brings the news that a movement is on foot among the English residents to force King George, the ruler of the islands, to abdicate.

The islands being under the protection of Great Britain, King George has gone to New Zealand to plead before King Edward's representatives that the government of the island be undisturbed and that he be secured on his throne.

NEGRO NARROWLY ESCAPES HANGING

Hagenbeck Canvasman Crushes Boy's Skull and Lynchers Follow to Jail Door.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 27.—John Shaughnessy and his friends were prevented from lynching Clifford Anderson, the colored canvasman of the Hagenbeck trained animal show, but this will not stay the punishment of the negro.

It was the intention of Shaughnessy and his friends to take the canvasman from his cell and hang him.

Shaughnessy is one of the heads of the Wabash shops here. He is strong politically. His son is at the hospital with a crushed skull.

The boy is only 8 years old. He thrust his head through a gap in the tenting and the negro struck him with a tent pole. The blow would have killed a man, but the doctors think the boy may recover.

BAPTIZED YOUTH KILLED BY BRICK

Mother Hurriedly Uses Pail of Water and Is Commended by Priest.

An inquest on the body of 14-year-old Albert Pix, killed Wednesday by a brick which fell from the top of a building being erected on Walnut street, between Third and Fourth, will probably be held Thursday.

As the boy lay dying in the alley where he received his injury while playing mumble-peg with Willie Menaugh, a companion, the latter's mother, Mrs. Madeline Menaugh, living at 317 Walnut street, hurriedly obtained a pail of water and baptized him according to the rites of the Catholic Church. The strange ceremony took place almost under the shadow of the old Catholic cathedral, and the crowd stood reverently silent during its progress.

Mrs. Menaugh at once reported her action to Father McFall of the Cathedral, who commended her for what she had done.

An ambulance had been summoned.

DRIVERS BEATEN, TEAMS LET LOOSE

Strikers Assault Nonunion Teamsters at Chicago and Seize Their Wagons.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Violence growing out of the teamsters' strike broke out afresh last night.

A mob of nearly a thousand persons assaulted a caravan of wagons belonging to a wholesale grocery company while they were returning to the barns of the company.

After beating one of the drivers into insensibility the wagon was driven away by the rioters and the horses turned loose.

Woman's Nightmare

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much as she is to love the beautiful and

There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. WANT A DIVORCE QUICK? OMAHA IS PLACE FOR YOU

To the Credit of the City, However, It Should Be Said, It Is Ashamed of the New Role.

GOOD CITIZENS URGING CHANGES IN THE LAWS

Judges Resent Criticism of Number of Decrees, Saying They Can't Refuse When Statute Conditions Are Met.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
OMAHA, Neb., July 27.—Omaha's divorce colony is bidding fair to become one of the most conspicuous "retreats" in the country.

Quick service and no trouble are some of the inducements offered by the courts. Just 144 nuptial couples were separated in the past six months.

Sioux Falls is more famous, but Omaha beats it in the number of swift divorces this year.

Omaha is an eminently respectable and a distinctive conservative Western city, and the flocking hither of divorce-seeking husbands and wives is not encouraged. Despite this fact, however, the divorce business is growing remarkably fast and already has attained astonishing proportions.

In the last six months the three Judges of the Equity Branch of the District Court have granted 144 decrees of divorce, besides hearing a large number of divorce cases in which no decrees were granted and dismissing not a few for want of prosecution. All told, between 200 and 300 divorce cases have been disposed of in one way or another in District Court here within the last six months.

Don't Have to Wait.
The records show that it is not uncommon for a petition to be filed and a decree granted the same day. This has been done several times within the last month. One case of this sort was that in which the Illinois country newspaper in Western Iowa figured as defendant. The title of the case was Harriet B. J. Hughes against Alonzo P. Hughes. The plaintiff was a widow when she was married to Hughes four years ago and was the mother of a grown-up daughter. She lived in Omaha, while he worked in his newspaper office during the week and spent Sundays here. In her petition she charged him with desertion, and Hughes waived service of the complaint and entered a voluntary appearance in court the day the petition was filed. Judge Sears heard the testimony within a few hours after the proceedings were instituted, granted a decree of divorce and at the same time ordered the defendant to pay the plaintiff $500.

The records show that a large percent of the parties to the suits filed within the last year were non-residents of Omaha. In a large majority of the cases the husbands and wives had lived together only a few years, in many only a few months. In a majority of them the petitions were filed by the wives. Drunkenness, cruelty, non-support and desertion were the charges most commonly preferred by the plaintiffs. Many decrees have been granted through default of the husbands.

Not until recently has popular interest been shown in the subject of divorce in this State. Of late there has been a wide discussion of it by the press and the public, and there is a practical unanimity of opinion that the divorce laws of Nebraska are in need of amendment to the end that the getting of divorces should be made more difficult and the flocking hither of divorce seekers discouraged.

No Notice Given.
Judges of the District Court have been severely criticized for the great number of decrees they have granted, but they defend the action on the ground that they have done only what the laws sanction. Most of them say that there are too many cases of divorce in this State and that they have not been successful. Of late years several efforts have been made to secure amendment to the laws, but they have not been successful. The next Legislature will be urged to give the subject serious consideration and to take action on it.

In a few cases personal notice of the filing of the suits is served on the defendants, but in a great majority of cases it is not served. It is argued by those who criticize the District Judges for the freedom with which they grant decrees that if personal notice were served on the defendants in every case in which it is possible to serve it, more decrees would be granted. Nor can there be any doubt that this is so. In a great majority of cases the petitions are filed, the hearings are had and the decrees are granted without the knowledge of the defendants or their attorneys. The practice of making an effort to get it seems to have fallen into disuse in large measure.

BURGLAR, NOT GAS MAN.

Mrs. Charles B. Zinn, 5100 Page boulevard, saw a burglar in the basement of her home.

"What do you want?" she asked. "I'm the gas man," the man answered as he jumped through a window and ran for the back fence.

He was described to the police as being about 30 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing about 120 pounds, with light hair, fair complexion and smooth face.

Hit Wife With Flatiron.

A warrant was issued Thursday for the arrest of James Fench, charging him with assault with intent to kill his wife, Emma, 414 W. 1st street. Fench is a well-known man who was married to a blond and beautiful woman with a revolver in his pocket. The appearance of her husband and he has not been seen since.

JEW DO HONOR TO THEODOR HERZL

Today Is First Anniversary of Death of Great Zionist Leader.

Called First Congress

Services Arranged for Synagogue Shereth Sephard—Dr. Wolf to Speak.

Today is being observed by Jews throughout the world with solemn services in honor of the memory of Dr. Theodor Herzl, the Zionist leader, who died a year ago.

Mass meetings are held in cities and towns in many countries, and speakers review the life of this man, who labored to improve the lot of millions of people under oppression in lands ruled with tyranny.

In St. Louis a mass meeting and memorial service has been arranged for the recently opened Synagogue Shereth Sephard, Fifteenth and Carr streets. The services will be conducted by the new Chazan and his choir, Dr. Alex S. Wolf, who was personally acquainted with Dr. Herzl, will give an address, and, among other speakers, will be Rev. Rosenkrantz, Dr. M. Spitz, L. Goodman, S. Goldman and Dr. Blass. Official Zionism will pay its respects to the famous leader and its founder at the opening of the Seventh Zionist Congress at Basle, Switzerland. To this congress the United States has sent 37 delegates, and it is expected that the total attendance will be about seven hundred.

At this meeting a successor to Dr. Herzl will be chosen to carry on the work, the principal feature of which at the present time is the ratification or rejection of the offer of 8000 square miles of land in East Africa by the British Government for Jewish colonization.

Growth of Zionism.

While this plan has been under way for a number of years, it is only recently that it has met the favor of the more wealthy and influential Jews of the West, who have believed that as soon as the Jewish state was formed, the Jews would be compelled to give up their rights and privileges.

It has been a great part of the work of Dr. Herzl to remove this belief from their minds. He has shown them that the movement aimed at the removal of the Jews from Russia, Rumania and other countries, where they were helpless victims of mobs and massacres. Dr. Herzl, in 1897, called the first Zionist Congress and began the work of colonization in Palestine. In the interest of his work he appeared before the rulers of the principal countries of Europe and was almost universally met with profers of assistance. In the eight years he was at the head of the Zionist movement, the organization has grown from practically nothing to a membership of 1,000,000.

FOUR BURIED IN TRENCH

Man's Hand Protruding From Ground Revealed Accident in Time for Rescue.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Four men buried by the caving in of a trench they were digging for a new gas plant at Long Island City were saved yesterday by laborers who happened to pass and saw directly in front of them, on what appeared to be level ground, a man's hand and part of the forearm. Frightened speechless they stopped and then the fingers of the hand moved. Hasty examination showed the nature of the accident which had buried some of the laborers. The owner of the hand was soon taken out unscathed. At the same time the digging came across the leg of another workman. Later they uncovered two more men who had been buried. Physicians at a nearby hospital resuscitated the four trench diggers to consciousness.

NEW WIRELESS SYSTEM

Priest's Telegraphic Invention Tried Successfully at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 27.—Father Joseph G. Murgas of this city has completed a two-day's official test of his recently invented wireless telegraph system and it was highly satisfactory.

The promoters of the company were present and were greatly pleased. The tests were made at stations in this city and in Scranton, messages being sent from the latter to the first. "Thank God for his blessings," said the priest, "the basis of the invention is the use of a musical note to represent each letter of the alphabet instead of dot and dash, as in the Morse system, and this may be elaborated so that groups of words frequently used can be designated by a musical note. It is said that Father Murgas received $100,000 and royalties for his invention and that he will give $50,000 to his church and spend the other $100,000 in furthering his inventions.

BENNINGTON DEATH ROLL REACHES 62

Pay Clerk and Japanese Succumb to Injuries—Boat Ready for Navy Yard.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 27.—The list of the Bennington dead now numbers 62, there having been two more deaths—S. Tacate, a Japanese mess attendant, and H. A. Mettles, pay clerk.

The case of Mettles is peculiar. He was able to walk uptown after the accident and was thought not to have been badly injured. After his wounds had been dressed he was out on the streets. Suddenly he collapsed.

The Bennington is now ready to go north. But should Admiral Goodenough, who is due here today, decide to hold an inquiry here, the presumption is that the Bennington will not be taken north until the investigation is completed.

Precautions have been taken by Secretary Bonaparte to prevent anything like the explosion of the boilers on the Bennington. The explosion of the boilers on the Bennington was the cause of the explosion of the boilers on the Bennington.

Instructions have been sent to Commander Young to see that none of the debris or the wreckage is removed from the ship which will change the situation in the slightest degree.

This was prompted by advice sent

REBATES WILL GO, COCKRELL SAYS

Commerce Commissioner Startles Big Grain Shippers Who Defend Discrimination.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 27.—Commerce Commissioner Cockrell startled some big shippers at the hearing today. These shippers are to tell what rebates they receive.

"I don't think it right," said E. O. Moffatt, "that the man who ships 100,000 bushels of wheat every few weeks should be on the same footing with the man who ships 100 bushels a year."

"Oh, no government can tolerate a thing like that," retorted Commissioner Cockrell. "If your policy is to be carried out we might just as well turn everything over to the rich right away. The poor man will stand no chance."

"Do you think the time will ever come when there won't be rebates?" asked Mr. Moffatt.

"The time is coming. It is on the way," replied Commissioner Cockrell. The hearing was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning. These remarks were made at a special session of the commission held last night to take up al-

LEAD BOUNTY IS MISSOURI MENACE

Production in Canada Triples in Three Years Under Government Sustenance.

By Wire from the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Missouri lead interests may possibly take alarm after reading a recent report of United States Consul Smith, at Victoria, B. C., upon the effects of the Government bounty on lead produced in Canada.

Love Lady

By IVAN WHIN.

A Chronicle of a Girl Who Conquered.

CHAPTER IV.

A Vicarious Triumph.

MATTIE DWYER returned to school thinner, more pale and anemic than ever. Typhoid fever had done nearly its worst for her during vacation time. She slipped into her place shyly conscious of her unpleasant appearance, and though the girls commented sympathetically they did not carry their sympathy beyond the "poor girl" stage.

Love Lady rushed to her rescue. "You poor, sick thing," she cried; "why on earth do you come to school until you are strong?"

"I must," was all the girl would say and faint color touched her cheeks. Love Lady knew it was the hope of the scholarship that spurred her to ignore weakness and endure pain that she might not lose a moment in the race.

"You can't do it," she told Mattie, but the girl had a mind as stubborn as her own and maintained that she would. It was a startling reversal of form the teachers of Love Lady discovered. For three years she had been the honor pupil and now when the work was easier she failed continuously. It was not that she lacked intelligence; indeed, her failures evinced intelligence. She took delight in violating conditions and rules, a mild form of insubordination that called for no heavy penalties but affected her class standing.

She took maternal charge of Mattie, devoted all her pocket money to feeding her, advised with her about her health and enforced exercise in the gymnasium and walking after school.

Love Lady also coached Mattie in her lessons and it was strange that written work, which Mattie practically copied from Love Lady's drafts, was invariably correct, while Love Lady's work on the same topic was full of flaws.

Sluggish kept up his steady gait, which made him third in the race, but so close to Mattie that now Love Lady was dropping out he alternated with Mattie in class leadership. He became a positive source of danger to her plan and Love Lady had recourse to arts which women in all times have used to gain their ends.

She sought Sluggish's society frequently.

ly, praised him and petted him until he thought that she loved him. Then she exposed her plot. "Mattie must win," she told him decisively. "If you keep pushing her you may win, because she will kill herself with work. If you drop back as I have done Beatrice will be her only competitor, and I could coach a child to beat the Field Mouse. Do you want to gain the scholarship over Mattie's dead body?"

What could a chivalrous youth, so challenged, do?

Very instinctively—in fact, with some drama—he neglected his studies and made so poor an average that the principal was forced to lecture him severely. His parents added, sharp words of admonition and deprived him of privileges. They imagined that he was getting into evil ways and they forbade him participation in glee club and athletic treats. He had to give up football and debating and did it like a martyr sure of a glory crown.

He had been dogged in study, steady and sure on the field and a sheet anchor of accuracy in the glee club. He was now as dogged in support of Love Lady's plan, proudly conscious of the secret these two shared and incapable of yielding to any influence of the authorities placed over him.

As winter came Love Lady's care of Mattie extended to her clothing. She supplemented the poor girl's wardrobe from her own with many an ingenious and oftentimes Jesuitical excuse.

Mattie for all her mental energy, was averse to physical exertion, and thought romping undignified. Love Lady made her romp and run, and even dragged her out on the first ice and taught her, with Sluggish's co-operation, to skate. She taught her to dance, secretly, for Mattie's father frowned upon such pleasures.

Because Mrs. Calvin and the doctor approved her course, Mattie was often at home with Love Lady, even remaining over night.

The atmosphere of the doctor's house was good for her, as good as the exercise Love Lady compelled her to take. When one lives in a house with persons concerned at all times for their eternal salvation, one's mind will drift with their thought and the spiritual nature grows at the expense of physical well-being.

And so when in Mattie's work he detected a vigor of phrase, a peculiar sentence construction and disturbing point of view he recognized the hand of Love Lady. Yet her own work on the same subject was more vigorous, more recklessly different, even painfully negligent of specific instruction he gave.

He called Mattie aside one day after his hour and asked if she had written an essay she had handed in.

"Yes, sir."

"Without help from any other student?"

"Yes, I read with Miss O'Hare, but we did not help each other." She was quite truthful, for it was Love Lady's pride to be adroit in her aid. She planted her thoughts in Mattie's mind with such utter absence of pedagogic command that the beneficiary did not know that she was being aided.

But the professor of English knew that.

"That is a very good plan," he said. "I hope you will continue to read with Miss O'Hare. She is very good in English."

To Love Lady he said: "Young woman, if you don't do better work in the future I shall have to report you. I wouldn't be severe with you if I didn't know how capable you are. Hereafter do as good work for yourself as you do for Miss Dwyer."

An instant denial leaped to her lips, but did not pass. The thought came to her that he might prove of value in the conspiracy, but she feared her idea of duty might interfere, and so, keeping silent, she left him smiling.

O'Hare went painfully and with little variety of phrase. Indeed one letter was so much like another no one but Love Lady would have found them interesting. For her there was that in them which gave her clairvoyantly knowledge of his mental condition, his periods of melancholy and his moods when all the world is gay.

Toward the end of the school year, when there was red in Mattie's cheeks and her eyes were clear and blue, her class standing unassailably the highest, there came a letter with a melancholy note.

"You are all I have in the world," he wrote, "and you will never know how proud I am to have such a sweet child and a good scholar. Win all the prizes and make your old father prouder still."

What if she had won the scholarship? Would it not have been the wine of life to that lone laborer, voluntarily an exile and yet loving and beloved?

She threw herself into her studies with passionate fervor, and Sluggish, seeing his outburst of energy and his resolute thought doubly of treachery. Had he led him astray from his studies to make sure of the prize and give the second place to Mattie?

While the question troubled him he studied valiantly, which was needed to insure graduation for him.

Early in May the whole class knew how it would all end. Mattie had won and Love Lady excelled Sluggish slightly the principal regretted he could not confer a scholarship on each of the trio.

The class trailed far behind these friends.

"It shows what racial cleanliness will do," said Beatrice, known as the Field Mouse. "Those Irish stick together like sin and they've helped each other out, but Love Lady did most of the helping."

Wherein Beatrice was known to be accurate and just.

There was but one essay and one oration on the graduation program. Love Lady had the first, a dissertation on the flowers that bloom unseen, and Willie O'Brien discoursed on "The Strenuous Life." The boys got out of bounds at the end of Sluggish's oration and asked him publicly if Love Lady wrote his piece and taught him to say it, which proves that chivalry has its price.

"So Mattie beat you," the doctor said to Love Lady twinkling.

"Yes," she said carelessly.

"I thought she would," he went on. "I have found it impossible to serve God and Mammon, to eat my cake and have it, too, to do a journeyman's work and be the foreman, to."

"Whatever are you talking about?"

"It's Sunkrit."

"The English of it is that you go to Wellesley in the fall. And I might add that you'll stay only so long as your weight keeps normal and you don't get too fat."

"Mister," she cried, and hugged him till he choked. "I'll study, O, so hard, to make you glad you sent me."

"Don't care a --- about how you study," he said, "and there was molasses in his eyes." "But don't let your sympathy for stupid girls carry you into neglecting your health." Which shows that the doctor was aware of her sacrifice.

BETTER FOR THE BETTOR.

By Clananah.

'Tis better for the bettor,
When caught in Kiely's net,
To better his condition
By ceasing then to bet.
You bet the betting better
Will better find his lot
If he'll think better of it
And keep on betting not.
The odds are all against him:
The judge who on him sits—
You bet he'd better learn it—
Will play no favorites;
And men who're making books now
For better bettors view
The fact that legislators
Have made some good books, too.

NEW YORK EDITORIAL OPINION

By Leased Wire From The New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The World says:

"Although the boundary line between Vermont and Canada is slightly out of joint, it is officially stated in Washington that the State is in no danger of losing any territory. This is well. Vermont has no people or votes to spare. Besides she has already had trouble enough in getting herself snugly and properly fitted into the Union."

"For long years before the Revolution Vermont was the subject of a territorial fight in which New Hampshire, New York and, in the early period, Massachusetts took part. This quarrel kept her out of the confederation and delayed her admission to the Union until 1791. Beginning in 1778 she had an independent government, of which Thomas Chittenden was twice the head and Moses Robinson once. The 'Green Mountain Boys' fought in the revolution as the forces of a separate commonwealth."

"A petty boundary dispute ought not to be linked at this interval with a chain of territorial romances to which time has given historic dignity. Besides, nobody from Vermont can be spared to the Union. Every citizen of that State has a consecrated function in the Republic. By voting or not voting for Governor in presidential years he gives all the politicians a work of ecstatic bliss in predicting the results of the national election."

"Good citizenship requires submission to quarantine when it is established," says the Times, "and there ought to be no recollection of such incidents as that in New Orleans, when a dying patient was placed in a barber's chair and shaved during a visit of inspection to escape hospital treatment."

"Sanitation is true remedy for all such diseases."

"Quarantine has its uses in preventing nervousness and giving assurance of official protection."

"Those critics who have been sneering at the prosecutions of our eminent criminals and saying that the men highest up always escape prison will be sore put to it in view of the sentencing of Senator Mitchell of Oregon to six months in jail in addition to a fine of $1000," says the Post. "As it stands, the value of this conviction is enormous. If one or two more Senators and a few criminal trust magnates and insurance company plunderers could meet a similar fate there would be an end to the misleading cry that this is a country in which the laws are made to protect the rich and punish the poor."

tween Doctors and Druggists Will Not Be Stopped.

It was announced Thursday morning that despite the foreboding weather conditions the game scheduled for Sportsman's Park Thursday afternoon between the Doctors and Druggists will positively be played, rain, snow or shine. Good in purpose and good in fun, the contest should attract a good crowd, as one-third of the gross gate receipts are to go to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund and two-thirds to the various orphan asylums of St. Louis. A feature of the game will be the reappearance on the ball field of Dr. Heine Marks in the role of a pitcher. The physician promises to use his "dope ball," the formulae of which he supplied his friend, Weldon Henley, with last Saturday when the Philadelphia pitcher shut the St. Louis Browns out without a run or hit. To offset this handicap the Druggists have engaged the services of the eminent chloroformist, Dr. Oser, who will use all his resources in an endeavor to defeat the physicians. Play will be called at 3 o'clock by Umpire John J. O'Brien, speaker of the House of Delegates.

The two teams will be picked from the following players:

Doctors—Dr. Marks, Dr. Soraghan, Dr. Carley, Dr. Klutho, Dr. R. Harris, Dr. J. Harris, Dr. Greener, Dr. Tenn, Dr. Pauley, Dr. Earrish, Dr. Dillon, Dr. Bailey, Umpire, J. J. O'Brien.

Druggists—William Bush, E. H. Burger, L. F. Abel, W. O. Tenn, F. Henn, W. Bascom, G. Slewing, R. Murphy, E. Stegner, R. Glum, A. R. Scheu, R. Boesewatter, J. J. O'Brien, E. A. Bernius, W. B. Pilkinton, Master Stegner, Old Dr. Oser.

DRASTIC MEASURESEngage in Spirited Morning Practice in Hope of Winning at Brooklyn.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BROOKLYN, July 27.—Seventeen athletes stealthily and silently stole out to Washington Park this morning about 6 o'clock, climbed over the 15-foot fence, jumped to the ground, crept out to the diamond and began to toss a baseball to one another. Fungo practice was engaged in and five pitchers stood in front of the deserted grandstand and served swift shots up to as many players.

It was 5 o'clock before they left the grounds and ran back to their hotel, a distance of three miles, and their absence would not have been noticed but for the shrewdness of Manager Hanson of the Trolley Dodgers, who is cognizant of the desperate tactics the St. Louis Cardinals are resorting to to win two out of the four games from Brooklyn. Hanson, Monday, engaged Mr. Holmes, the well-known detective, and every movement the Burkettes have made during the past three days has been made known to the Brooklyn management.

Burke, when charged with unfair tactics this morning, announced with brazen effrontery that he would win this afternoon's game if he had to forcibly tear it away from Hanson, and with hideous glee said that he was going to send Thielman, his crack pitcher, to the firing line for that purpose. Hanson, nervous and irritated, did not know who was going to pitch, but was heard to mutter: "It would not take much to beat St. Louis."

SULLIVAN WINS ON FOUL FROM COFFEY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 27.—After a stirring battle of 13 rounds at the Massabesic Coliseum last night, in which not a single blow was struck while on the ropes or posts, "Kid" Coffey of New York felled Peter Sullivan of Fall River by butting him in the stomach and following with blows to the groin. Referee Billy Woods gave the decision to Sullivan, and the New York boy walked to his corner without a word.

Four straight jabs and hooks to the jaw, it was one of the prettiest fights ever seen here. Coffey fought low for the wind, giving Sullivan a cannon at hard uppercut, but in the last part of the thirteenth Coffey looked the fresher. He had Sullivan on the ropes in the twelfth and the first of the thirteenth, and was beginning to deal hard punches to the latter's wind. Sullivan made a quick back step, Coffey fell forward, butting his adversary and striking low.

TEAM NOT COMING

CHICAGO, July 27.—Secretary D. O. Davies of the syndicate handling the local end of the proposed visit of the Corinthian Football Association of London yesterday received word from Manager Parker, who is in Canada, that the trip had been abandoned.

The news came as a great surprise, as it was understood the Englishmen had already engaged their passages. It develops that Manager Parker failed to get as much money guaranteed as he expected, and consequently the trip was abandoned.

In place of the Englishmen the local players hope to arrange a match against a picked team from Canada.

LOVE FOUND THE WAY

Romance Begun in Toledo Ends
in Marriage in Chicago

TOLEDO, O., July 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Jay K. Holland of Sandusky, have just learned of the marriage of their daughter, Alma, to Ralph Thomas at Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago. They supposed that the daughter was visiting relatives in Columbus.

This terminated a romance of more than usual interest. The Thomas and Holland families have lived just across the street from each other for many years, and for almost as many years Ralph Thomas and Alma Holland have been sweethearts, but several years ago, when they thought seriously of marriage, the young lady's parents took a violent dislike to the young man.

Thomas went to Chicago, where he has since remained.

The young man's mother proved the faithful ally, and letters from him to his sweetheart were addressed to his mother, and by her given to the young lady, whose family thought she had forgotten her lover. In this manner the supposed visit with relatives in Columbus was planned, which ended in the marriage in Chicago.

The bride's parents, on being informed of the marriage refused absolutely to discuss it. The bride's father is head bookkeeper in the Commercial National Bank in this city.

BROWNS LEAVE ON LONG BOSTON TRIPAfter Postponing Game, Players Get Ready for Journey to the Hub.

The rain that visited Sportsman's Park shortly before game time Wednesday and caused the postponement of the Brown-Hilllanders contest was a blessing in disguise to the Browns, the players spending the afternoon in packing the accoutrements that will be taken on the second invasion of the East.

The players departed Thursday morning at 8:17 via the Big Four and their first stop will be made at Boston, where they open Saturday. All the players of the club made the journey with the exception of Rockenfield, who is still suffering from an aggravated case of yellow jaundice.

Griffith Is Disappointed.

Clarke Griffith was very much disappointed at the postponement of Wednesday's game. He said while sitting in the grandstand during the showers:

"I believe that if we crawled into a hole and pulled the hole in after us we couldn't escape the hard luck that has been dripping down on us since we came to the team all season. When it isn't accident it is rain. It might be a good thing for us to have a hole in the ground, but if the weather man hands out any more rain the game can be played under cover. Even then the electric lights might go out, or the benches cave in, or the players get cerebro-spinal meningitis. These double-headers coming too frequently are apt to lose us the pennant."

The Chicago middle-weight is ruling a slight favorite in the betting by virtue of his victory over Jack O'Brien. This fact does not dismay Burns, however, who says he usually relies better when he is on the short end.

Kaiser's Interview With Oscar to Get Consent for Hohenzollern Accession.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 27.—Both houses of the Swedish Parliament today approved the report of the special committee appointed by Parliament to deal with the crisis between Norway and Sweden. In the first chamber the report was adopted without debate.

In an interview yesterday King Oscar said:
"I was unable to adopt any different attitude toward Norway than I did, because my oath of office as king of both countries absolutely debarred me from doing anything for the one that infringed the interests of the other. Norway says that I left her. Say to your people in the most positive form that I never left Norway. She left me."

"I will never allow a Bernadotte prince to occupy the Norwegian throne unless Sweden asks it. I hope and believe she will not ask it. That would be an awful sacrifice for me and my family.
My family is united with me on this point. We are a happy family. I have good sons and good grandsons. They do not desire to allow personal ambitions, which they might gratify by the acceptance of Norway's invitation, to lead them to think of acting contrary to my desires in this matter."

HOHENZOLLERN MAY BE NORWAY'S KING.

LONDON, July 27.—The Daily Mail's Stockholm correspondent says he learns that the Kaiser's visit to the Czar was due to the former's wish to obtain the Czar's consent to the accession of the Hohenzollern prince to the Norwegian throne, which has been one of the Kaiser's great aims since Norway's accession.

MRS. LUCAS HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Rescued From Beneath Ma-

BRAKE BALKS ON A HILL

Auto Backs Rapidly, Notwithstanding Efforts of Driver and Constable to Stop It.

Mrs. John D. Lucas, 2347 West Pine boulevard, was painfully, though it is thought not seriously, injured in a peculiar automobile accident at Carlyle, Ill., Wednesday afternoon. Relatives here received word that aside from several bruises and a crushed finger she was little hurt.

Mrs. Lucas was operating the machine herself and was ascending a steep hill.
While on this grade the automobile stopped and she found herself unable to start it again. Instead it began to run backward downhill. She threw on the brakes, but with no effect.

Joseph Gross, a Constable, saw her difficulty and jumped into the machine.
He endeavored to stop it, but could not make the brakes work. Then he jumped out again and tried to stop it from the outside. By this time the machine was running with some speed and had reached a little culvert at the bottom of the incline.

The Constable found he could not stop it and jumped to one side. He had yelled to Mrs. Lucas to jump, but she remained in the automobile as it ran backward down the hill.

The machine dropped 15 feet into a little ravine and turned over, leaving Mrs. Lucas beneath it. When rescued she was lying in water a foot deep. She was conscious and declared that she was not badly hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas are visiting relatives in Carlyle and expect to remain until Oct. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper were divorced in Ottawa last February.

she had often seen him engaged over his tubes. She described these as being of glass, five inches long and containing what appeared to be a gelatin-ous substance.

"Why, while his wife lay dying across the street, he boasted of his knowledge of germs," said Mrs. Schultz. "Once when I saw him working over his tube with a lot of bottles and test tubes he said to me, 'The simplest things in then that he was engaged in any deadly business, but I believe it now."

Schaub, who occupied the room ad-

seen the man at work with his culture

"He claimed to me," said Schaub,
"that he was an expert in germ culture."
He showed me on one occasion a test tube that he said contained enough germs to kill off the whole female population of Brooklyn. "What are they?"
"They are only erysipelas germs, but they could do the work," he replied. To

CARLTON'S GERM CULTURE TUBES FOUND BY POLICE

Detectives Report Discovery in Rooms of Wife-Poisoner Suspect—Told Landlady "Sim-

DESIRES TO TALK OF ALLEGED NINE WIVES

Inspector Cross Believes Prisoner Is McCandless and That
He Stole Name and Army
Record of Carlton.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Detectives allege they have discovered "germ culture tubes" in the rooms of Frederick Carlton, supposed to be James Edward McCandless of Missouri, under arrest in Brooklyn suspected of murdering at least two wives by injecting tetanus germs into their systems.

Mrs. Schultz, the landlady with whom Carlton lived, is said to have told the detectives that Carlton, on the day of her arrest, had taken away two suitcases packed with his "laboratory" materials. Whether or not they include germ culture tubes she could not say,
but the police are making every effort to recover these suitcases.

"If we find positively that Carlton has engaged in the culture of tetanus germs or in the bacilli that caused the infection in the right arm of his wife, who died of that malady, we have established our circumstantial case against the man," said Inspector Cross.

Although it is believed by the inspector that Eleanor Vandeventer could tell what disposition was made of these two suitcases, she has been told by her lawyer, John S. Bennett, to keep a close mouth. At the jail she refuses to see visitors.

Both Mrs. Schultz and Henry Schaub

declare that Carlton was engaged in the culture of germs. Mrs. Schultz said

she had often seen him engaged over

saw me. It is true that the police have learned a great deal about my past.

But when they say I am Martinelli and that a woman at Gordon, Ala., has identified me as her husband, and that I was McCandless, the army deserter and ex-convict, they are badly mistaken.

"I admit I was in the army, but my record in Washington will show that I never did a wrong act."

"Are you the Frederick W. Carlton
who was discharged from the Columbus Harracks with an honorable record in 1926?"
he was asked.

"Yes, I am that Frederick Carlton,"
he replied.

"How old are you?"

"I am 34."

This answer was given while the lawyer was endeavoring to prevent the lawyer.

What the police regard as especially important is that McCandless, who was discharged from the Harracks with an honorable record in 1926, had been included in the name of Irving Oliver to a $500 check on the Highland National bank.

The belief is asserted by the police that Carlton actually collected the $500 life insurance upon Millie Peterson of Jersey City, taken out in the Prudential Life Insurance Co. in 1926.
It was learned that the policy was originally taken had been changed from a $500 policy to $1000, and that Carlton had been included as a beneficiary. The books of the company are being investigated to ascertain what disposition was made of this policy.

Manager Jette said it was not impossible that collection was made on it. If this is true, Carlton must have resorted to the burial of a dummy body.

The police have also learned that three insurance policies of $1000 each, made out in the name of E. J. D. Martinez, have been collected within the past year.

"Never heard of her," he replied.

"Do you know Dr. Goldsmith, who claims to have identified you here in jail?"

"Never saw him until he came up to me here, and he told the detectives that I was the man who robbed him."

"Did you make application with the Colonial Insurance Co. to insure the life of Eleanor Vandeventer?"

"Although the prisoner expressed a willingness to give an answer his lawyer forbade him."

The entire attitude of the prisoner during the interview was that of a frightened man. He talked with great timidity and stumbled upon his own words in an effort at times to get ahead of the objections of the lawyer.

Stole Name of Carlton.

Inspector Cross is now trying to prove that the prisoner stole the name and record of Carlton of the army in order that he could continue the nefarious work, and is actually the McCandless who served sentence in Port Leavenworth prison. The inspector yesterday received a photograph from Chief of Police Millikan of Cincinnati of the Edward J. Martinez, who, he asserts, was the McCandless referred to.

tor Cross, "that this picture is the pho-
